PROVIDENCE, October 20, 1908.

At the regular quarterly meeting of the First Baptist Church, held in the vestry this evening, it was announced that the manuscript of the Historical Catalogue, which has been in preparation for several years, is now completed, and a committee was appointed, consisting of the following persons, Henry M. King, Pastor Emeritus; William H. P. Faunce, President of Brown University; Professor William C. Poland, Clarence H. Guild, William C. Burwell, David W. Hoyt, William A. Gamwell, Miss Sarah C. Durfee, and Miss Alice W. Wilcox, who were authorized to proceed with the publication of the Catalogue and to make such arrangements as are necessary to accomplish that important object.

OUTLINE OF THE HISTORY

OF THE # FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

In June, 1636, six persons made a settlement in this place, and called it Providence. Roger Williams, who had been banished from Massachusetts because of his religious and political beliefs, was the leading spirit, and from him the place received its name in devout recognition of God's providential care over him during his journey through the wilderness. Other persons of kindred spirit soon joined this little company, seeking freedom from Puritan intolerance. They came at first from Salem, where they had been under Roger Williams' ministry, and subsequently from Boston, that here, on lands purchased from the Indians and beyond hostile jurisdiction, they themselves might enjoy, and also offer to all men "distressed of conscience," the priceless boon of soul-liberty. They were Separatists, and were breaking away from the ecclesiastical order in which they had been educated; but they were not lawless. They sought not license, but liberty to follow the path of truth in all things as God was revealing it to them in his Word, to the supreme authority of which they bowed.

During the year 1637-38 their new convictions were sufficiently matured to demand organized expression in church-fellowship.* Ezekiel Holliman, one of their number, in the absence of any scripturally baptized person in this new world, was deputed to baptize Roger Williams, and then he in turn baptized Mr. Holliman and "some ten more." These twelve or more persons constituted the first Baptist church in America.† They adopted no articles of faith, and the church has remained without formal creed or covenant. Their Jordan of baptism was their ecclesiastical Rubicon, and at the same time their pledge and sign of a new fellowship.

Roger Williams was a graduate of Pembroke College, Cambridge, and had been a minister of the Church of England. He was educated in all the knowledge of his time. He was the first pastor of the little church, and Mr. Holliman was his assistant. In a few months, however, he withdrew from the church, having been led to believe that, owing to the corruption in Christendom, the rites of the Church had become invalid, and that there was no proper administrator, and no proper church, and, indeed, that there could not be, without a new apostolate to re-establish the institutions of primitive Christianity. But he cherished to the end of his life his faith in the scripturalness of the distinctive views and practices of the church which he planted.

He continued to live in Providence, laboring for the enlightenment and conversion of the Indians, whose confidence he had won in Plymouth and always retained, and for the peace, the prosperity, and the perpetuity of the State which he was instrumental in founding. In its interests he paid two visits to the mother country at his own charges, both of which were successful. He died in 1683, being probably about eighty years of age, and "was buried with all the solemnity the colony was able to show."

After the withdrawal of Roger Williams from the church, there seem to have been three or four ministers who held the pastoral office conjointly, constituting a plurality of elders, whose terms of service it is impossible to determine definitely. They were members of the church when Mr. Williams withdrew, or united soon after. Chad Brown, who may be called the second pastor, was ordained in 1642, and died in 1665. He was the ancestor of a numerous and influential family, whose influence has been strongly felt in the commercial, educational, and religious life of the community. Thomas Olney, an original member, was for a time pastor, though the date of his ordination is unknown. He seceded from the church about 1652 on account of a division of opinion in regard to the imposition of hands. At the beginning, and for many years, this was the prevailing sentiment in the church. Roger Williams is known to have held it. It did not entirely disappear until after the beginning of the 19th century. Mr. Olney questioned the necessity of the practice and organized a new church composed of those who were in sympathy with him, and was its pastor until he died, in 1682. His church survived him a few years during the pastorate of his son.

William Wickenden was ordained by Rev. Chad Brown. He possessed a missionary spirit, and was one of the first to preach Baptist doctrines in New York in 1656, for which crime he was first fined, and then banished. He died in 1669. Gregory Dexter, who came to Providence in 1643, also served as pastor of the church, and continued his ministry until his death, in 1700, at the age of ninety years. These were all men of strong characters, and competent leaders of the church, which was still small. They served the church conscientiously, without compensation, giving to its spiritual oversight such time and strength as their secular occupations permitted.

Pardon Tillinghast was the sixth pastor of the church. He was admitted to citizenship in Providence, January 19, 1646, at the age of twenty-four. Having united with the church, he was subsequently ordained, and continued in the pastoral office until his death, in 1718. He, too, gave his service without salary, though he declared that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," and that the church ought to support his successor. He himself was a man of some means, and erected at his own expense, in 1700, the first meeting-house occupied by the church, and in 1711 deeded it to the church. The deed is on record in the City Hall. In it the church is called a Six-Principle church. Up to this time public worship had been held in the homes of the people, or in pleasant weather, under the trees. This house stood in what was then the north end of the town, near the corner of Smith street and North Main street, and was used for worship until 1726, when it was replaced by a larger one built on the same site. The second house was about forty feet square.

The next year after Mr. Tillinghast's death, Mr. Ebenezer Jenckes, who was born in Pawtucket in 1669, was ordained as pastor at the age of fifty, and died, after serving the church seven years, August 24, 1726. He was the first native-born pastor.

He was followed by Rev. James Brown, grandson of Chad Brown, who was born in 1666. He held the pastoral office about six years, and died October 28, 1732, aged sixty-six years.

In 1733 Mr. Samuel Winsor, born in Providence in 1677, was ordained pastor, together with Mr. Thomas Burlingame, who was born in Cranston in 1688, and who was for a time Mr. Winsor's colleague. Mr. Winsor died November 17, 1758. Mr. Burlingame died January 10, 1770.

June 21, 1759, Mr. Samuel Winsor, Jr., born in Providence, November 1, 1722, was ordained pastor. In May, 1771, Mr. Winsor withdrew from the church with a number of persons, who insisted on the imposition of hands as prerequisite to the communion of the Lord's Supper, and also because "singing in public worship was very disgusting to him." Singing as a form of worship was at that time introduced. They organized a Six-Principle church in Johnston, three miles distant. At that time the Six-Principle element was in the minority, and the church had on its roll of members only 118 names.

In the following July (1771) the Rev. James Manning, born in Elizabethtown, N. J., October 22, 1738, a graduate of the college at Princeton in 1762, and president of Rhode Island College, which had been located in Providence the previous year, was elected pastor. He did not formally relinquish the office, though his services seem to have been intermittent, until April, 1791, when he preached his farewell discourse. He died July 29 of the same year. The pastorate of President Manning, who was the first educated pastor since Roger Williams, gave a character and influence to the church which it had not had before. There were received into the church during his ministry 283 members, and in 1791 the church reported a total enrollment of 159.

During the ministry of Dr. Manning, in 1774, the Charitable Baptist Society was incorporated, the chartered body which holds the title to the church property. In February of that year it was resolved to vacate the house of worship which had been occupied for nearly fifty years, and to build upon the present site "a meeting-house for the public worship of Almighty God, and to hold Commencement in." The building of this, the third house, which is still in use, began June 1, 1774. It was dedicated May 28, 1775, midway between the battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill. It is eighty feet square, and is modelled after Saint Martins-in-the-Fields in London, which was designed by James Gibbs, a pupil of Sir Christopher Wren. It cost £7,000, of which £2,000 was raised by a lottery authorized by the State, according to the custom of the time. The spire is two hundred feet in height. In the interior an upper gallery for many years occupied the west end of the house, and was set apart for the use of slaves and other colored people. It was removed in 1832 to make room for an organ. In that year the old-fashioned square pews were exchanged for the present ones, and the lofty pulpit and sounding-board were taken down. The present pulpit and the recess in the rear for the open baptistery were introduced in 1884. The bell, weighing 2,500 pounds, was made in London, and bore at first the quaint inscription:

“For freedom of conscience the town was first planted;
Persuasion, not force, was used by the people:
This church is the oldest, and has not recanted.
Enjoying and granting bell, temple and steeple.”

The bell has been cracked three times in ringing, and recast in this country. It now bears the date of the origin of the church and the name of Roger Williams, “the first pastor and the first asserter of liberty of conscience,” and the following declaration: “It was the first church in Rhode Island, and the first Baptist church in America.”

January 1, 1788, the Rev. John Stanford, born in Wandsworth, England, October 20, 1754, then, and afterwards, of New York, accepted the call of the church to serve as minister for one year, to assist President Manning. He was subsequently elected pastor conjointly with Dr. Manning. He continued with the church, however, only until September 26, 1789, there having come to the knowledge of the church some error of conduct prior to his coming to America. His subsequent life in New York was one of honor and usefulness.

Mr. Jonathan Maxcy, born in Attleborough, Mass., September 2, 1768, and graduated at Rhode Island College in 1787, was licensed to preach by this church April 1, 1790, and was ordained pastor of the church September 8, 1791. He served the church but one year, resigning the pastoral office September 8, 1792, to accept the presidency of the college at the age of twenty-four. He filled the office of president for ten years. He was the president of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., 1802–04, and of the South Carolina College from 1804 to 1820. He died at Columbia, S. C., June 4, 1820.

In 1792 Nicholas Brown, 2d, the great benefactor of the church and college, contributed to the society £2,000 “to buy a lot and build a parsonage.” The lot was secured, and the parsonage erected on Angell street. This dwelling was occupied until 1873 by Pastors Gano, Pattison, Hague, Granger, and Caldwell. It was then rented until 1884, when it was torn down to give place to a new and modern parsonage, which has been occupied by Pastors Brown and King. It is now leased to a college fraternity.

The Rev. Stephen Gano, M. D., son of the Rev. John Gano, was born in New York, December 25, 1762, during his father’s pastorate of the First Baptist Church in that city, and was ordained there August 2, 1786. He had previously studied and practiced medicine, and served as surgeon in the revolutionary army. He was taken prisoner, put on board a prison-ship, bound in chains, and bore the scars until his death. He was invited to preach for this church August 18, 1792, and became a stated supply, though he was practically pastor from that date. He presented his letter, and became a member of the church July 4, 1793. He was formally elected pastor March 1, 1796, and continued in the office until his death, August 18, 1828, having ministered to the church nearly thirty-six years. The sermon at his funeral was preached by the Rev. Daniel Sharp, D. D., of Boston, pastor of the Charles Street Baptist Church.

Dr. Gano's long pastorate was distinguished by several remarkable revivals, the most remarkable in the entire history of the church. The whole number of accessions during his ministry was 988. In 1805 there were added 134 members by baptism and letter; in 1812, 104 members; in 1816, 94 members by baptism alone; and in 1820, 147 members by baptism alone, which brought the total enrollment of the church up to 648, a number not again reached until 1901. During this pastorate five new churches were formed in Providence and the immediate vicinity, largely by its members, viz.: the Second Church (now the Central), the Pawtucket Church, the Pawtuxet Church, the Third Church and the Fourth Church, thereby reducing the enrollment in 1828 to 491 members.

The Rev. Robert Everett Pattison, born in Benson, Vt., August 19, 1800, and graduated at Amherst College in 1826, was chosen pastor January 25, 1830, and entered upon his duties March 21. He resigned his office August 11, 1836, that he might take the presidency of Waterville College, Me., to which he had been elected. During Dr. Pattison's pastorate of nearly six years and a half 260 members were received, and the church reported, in 1836, 549 members, though many had been dismissed to strengthen the younger churches.

The Rev. William Hague, born January 4, 1808, in Pelham, West Chester County, N. Y., graduated at Hamilton College in 1826, and at Newton Theological Institution in 1829, was then pastor of the First Baptist Church in Boston, and was elected pastor of this church June 1, 1837, and began his duties June 25. Dr. Hague, like Dr. Gano, was of Huguenot ancestry. The church commemorated the second centenary of its foundation November 7, 1839, and the pastor delivered a valuable historical discourse. Dr. Hague was absent in Europe for nine months in 1838-39, and the Rev. Handel G. Nott supplied the pulpit. The pastor resigned his office August 20, 1840, and was dismissed to the Federal Street Baptist Church in Boston, of which he became pastor. During Dr. Hague's ministry 135 persons were added to the church, but not enough to make good the losses by dismission and death. The enrollment in 1840 was 540. Dr. Hague subsequently served numerous prominent churches in the denomination, and after a life of great usefulness died in Boston August 1, 1887.

September 24, 1840, the Rev. Robert E. Pattison was invited to resume the pastorate of the church, and accepted the call December 10. He resigned his office March 10, 1842, and concluded his service on the first Sunday in April, having been elected one of the secretaries of the Baptist Board of Foreign Missions. Dr. Pattison's brief second pastorate added 53 members to the church, and the number was reduced to 530. He filled the office of Missionary Secretary for four years, and gave the balance of his long life to the work of education in connection with denominational institutions, collegiate and theological. He died in Saint Louis in the summer of 1874.

The Rev. James Nathaniel Granger, born in Canandaigua, N. Y., August 8, 1814; graduated at the Hamilton Literary and Theological Institution in 1838; was then in charge of the Washington Street Baptist Church in Buffalo, and was elected pastor of this church September 12, 1842. He accepted the call of the church in October, and commenced his labors November 13, 1842. He died January 5, 1857, at the early age of forty-two years. Dr. Granger was absent from October 16, 1852, till May 4, 1854, being one of a deputation to visit the missions of the American Baptist Missionary Union in India. The Rev. John Calvin Stockbridge performed the duties of pastor for one year after Dr. Granger's departure. The Rev. Francis Smith then supplied the pulpit till his return. The Rev. William Carey Richards, ordained in New York, July 8, 1855, was appointed assistant to the pastor June 1, 1855, and resigned October 1, 1855. Dr. Granger's funeral occurred January 8, 1857, at which Prof. Alexis Caswell, D. D., delivered the address. On Sunday, January 18, President Wayland preached a discourse in commemoration of Dr. Granger's "Character and Services." The address and discourse were published, and were a fitting tribute to an honored minister.

Dr. Granger in his ministry to the church of more than fourteen years was permitted to welcome 296 members. The church contributed of its members to form the Jefferson Street Church, which was organized in 1847, and near the close of Dr. Granger's pastorate a large and influential number were dismissed to form the Armory Hall Church, (afterwards the Brown Street, which later united with the Third Baptist Church, constituting the present Union Baptist Church), and the church reported in 1857 to the Warren Association 410 members.

After the death of Dr. Granger the Rev. Francis Wayland, D. D., who for twenty-eight years had been the distinguished president of Brown University, was invited to supply the pulpit and perform pastoral duties. He commenced his service in March, 1857. On January 4, 1858, Dr. Wayland was elected pastor, but declined the office. He, however, continued his labors until the first Sunday in June, 1858. They were months of great spiritual blessing to the church. Dr. Wayland died September 30, 1865, in the 70th year of his age.

The Rev. Samuel Lunt Caldwell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Bangor, Me., born in Newburyport, Mass., November 13, 1820, graduated at Waterville College in 1839, and at Newton Theological Institution in 1845, was elected pastor March 9, 1858. He accepted the call May 25, and entered upon his duties Sunday, June 13. He resigned his pastorship August 28, 1873, to accept a professorship in the Newton Theological Institution. After a service of five years at Newton he was called to the presidency of Vassar College, and filled the position for seven years. Dr. Caldwell's pastorate of this church continued a little more than fifteen years. He welcomed 253 members. But the church suffered many losses by death, and in 1873 reported 390 members. After his pastorate he still retained his membership in the church and his official connection as fellow and secretary of the corporation of Brown University, and died in Providence, September 26, 1889, widely esteemed and greatly beloved.

The Rev. Edward Glenn Taylor, D. D., pastor of the Coliseum Place Church in New Orleans, La., was elected pastor December 10, 1874, and began his duties Sunday, April 18, 1875. He was born in Philadelphia County, Penn., graduated at Lewisburg University in 1854, and at Rochester Theological Seminary in 1856, and was ordained in Terre Haute, Ind., in 1857. He had also held pastorates in Cincinnati and Chicago. Dr. Taylor closed his pastorate of this church November 30, 1881, and was dismissed to the Mount Morris Baptist Church in New York. He had pastorates also in Newark, N. J., and Buffalo, N. Y., where he died April 10, 1887. Dr. Taylor served this church six years and a half. They were years of much spiritual ingathering. Under his earnest, evangelistic ministry there were added 317 members, and the roll was increased to 547. The Roger Williams Church was brought into being largely through his labors, and also the Mt. Pleasant Church, though this last church was not organized until 1883.

The Rev. Thomas Edwin Brown, D. D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Rochester, N. Y., accepted the call of this church, and began his labors February 5, 1882. Dr. Brown was born in Washington, D. C., September 26, 1841, and graduated from Columbian University in 1861. He became pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., in November, 1862, and pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Rochester in November, 1869. He closed a faithful and successful pastorate in Providence July 31, 1890, and was dismissed to the Memorial Baptist Church in Philadelphia, of which he became pastor. From that church he was called to a pastorate in Franklin, Penn., and is now the esteemed pastor of the Baptist Church in New Britain, Conn. During Dr. Brown's ministry of eight years and a half in this church he was permitted to welcome 167 members. Many were dismissed to join churches nearer their residences, notably the new Mt. Pleasant and Branch Avenue churches, leaving the church at the close of his ministry with 480 members.

The church observed its 250th anniversary on Sunday, April 28, 1889. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the pastor, Dr. Brown, and the special historical discourse was delivered by Dr. Caldwell, a former pastor. At the evening service addresses were given by the Rev. E. G. Robinson, D. D., president of Brown University; the Rev. George Bullen, D. D., president of the Rhode Island Baptist State Convention and pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pawtucket; the Rev. Augustus Woodbury, D. D., pastor of the Westminster Unitarian Church; the Rev. J. G. Vose, D. D., pastor of the Beneficent Congregational Church; and the Rev. C. A. L. Richards, D. D., rector of the St. John's Episcopal Church. The published sermons and addresses make a volume of great historical value.

The Rev. Henry Melville King, D. D., was called from the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Albany, N. Y., and entered upon the pastorate of this church July 1, 1891. He was born in Oxford, Me., September 3, 1838, graduated at Bowdoin College in 1859, and at the Newton Theological Institution in 1862, in which Institution he served for a brief time as instructor in the Hebrew language. He was pastor of the Dudley Street Baptist Church in Boston from April, 1863, to January, 1882, and of the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Albany from January, 1882, to July, 1891. He closed his pastorate of this church on Easter Sunday, April 15, 1906, and was elected pastor emeritus.

Dr. King's ministry with the church continued for fourteen years and nine months, and there were added to it 634 members. Notwithstanding the large number of removals by death among the aged members during this period, the church numbered at his resignation 734. The Wayland Chapel was purchased in 1892, and supported by the church for thirteen years, in which a Sunday School was carried on, and much of the time a preaching service.

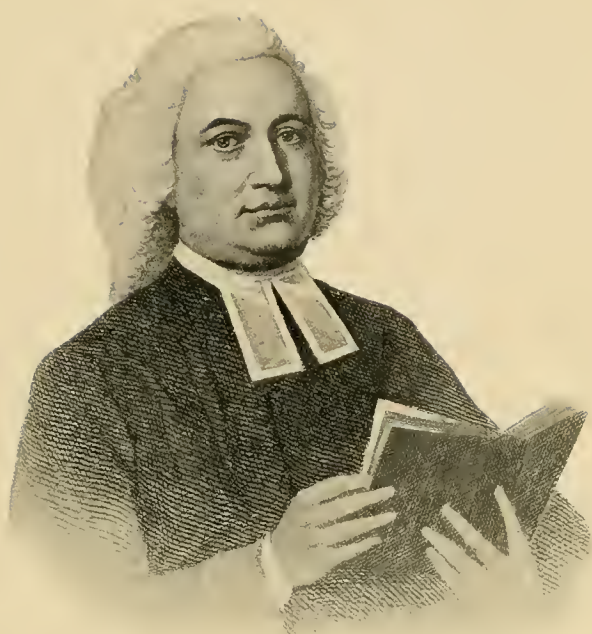

Rev. George Richard Atha was invited to be pastor's assistant in 1903, and served the church with fidelity for three years, laboring especially at the Wayland Chapel. He graduated at Brown University in 1895 and at Newton Theological Institution in 1898, and was pastor in Fall River, Mass., from 1898 to 1903. In September, 1906, he accepted a call to Groton, Conn., where he is still pastor.

The present pastor, Rev. Elijah Abraham Hanley, D. D., was called to the pastorate of the church June 11, 1907, and assumed the pastoral care the following September. The past year has been one of marked progress under his earnest leadership. He was born in Indiana, May 26, 1871. He graduated at Franklin College in 1895; was assistant in rhetoric in Brown University, 1895-1896, a graduate student in the University of Chicago, 1896 to 1901; and pastor of the East End Baptist Church in Cleveland, Ohio, from 1901 to 1907.

The benevolence of the church has been large for its financial ability, and comprehensive, and uniform. Rhode Island College was transferred from Warren to Providence by reason of generous offers of aid by the people of the First Church, and received its new name by reason of added benefactions from the same source. Since all the presidents of Brown University, and many of the professors, have been members of this church, in the very nature of things the church has always been deeply and helpfully interested in the cause of Christian education. The University and the Newton Theological Institution have been especially remembered in its benefactions. The objects of its benevolence have always been very numerous. Its list last year contained twenty-eight. Those which have received the largest attention and support have been foreign and home missions and the Rhode Island Baptist State Convention. To this last object the church has for many years contributed more than one-seventh of all that the Rhode Island churches have given for the support of the work. While it has given to home missions a large recognition, and has ever been warmly and generously sympathetic towards this important work, which was never so important, and varied, and imperative as now, it has been especially active in the support of foreign missions, and in the providence of God prominently, and in some sense officially, identified with the American Baptist Missionary Union.

Dr. Gano was one of the three New England delegates to the convention in Philadelphia, in 1814, which organized the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society in this country, and labored zealously for its enlargement and usefulness so long as he lived. Dr. Wayland preached his memorable missionary sermon on "The Moral Dignity of the Missionary Enterprise" in Boston, in 1823, when he was twenty-seven years of age, and when he came, four years later, to Brown University and the First Baptist Church, he brought with him an intelligent devotion to missions, which permeated both church and college. Dr. Pattison retired from his second pastorate of the church to accept the secretaryship of the Foreign Missionary Society, to which he had been called. One of the deacons of the church, Richard E. Eddy, was elected to the responsible position of treasurer of the Missionary Union in 1847, and held the office for eight years. Dr. Granger received from the church a long leave of absence in 1852, that he might be one of the deputation to make an official visit to the mission fields in India. Dr. Caldwell delivered by appointment the very able and remarkably appropriate sermon at the 50th anniversary of the Missionary Union held in Philadelphia in 1864, and six other pastors of the church have been called upon to preach the annual sermon before the Missionary Union. Four members of the church have been presidents of the Missionary Union, and three members have served as chairman of the Board of Managers. One of the pastors has been twice elected unanimously corresponding secretary, but felt compelled to decline the high office each time by reason of the imperative claims of the pastorate upon him. He has endeavored to make amends for his refusal to comply with the requests of the Board of Managers by serving on the Executive Committee for seventeen years, a part of the time as its presiding officer.

It should be added that the Rhode Island Baptist Mite Society, one of the first missionary societies organized by the women of our churches, was formed in 1806 in Dr. Gano's parlor by the young women of the church, and that during its long and beneficent career until the present time its leading officers, and many of its warm supporters, have been women in the First Baptist Church. A part of its early offerings was designated to missions in India. The Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society (an organization of comparatively recent origin) has had for its president for fifteen years a member of this church, Miss Sarah C. Durfee, who is now honorary president for life, and two other members are vice-presidents, viz.: Mrs. W. H. P. Faunce and Miss Mary A. Greene, Miss Greene being also the attorney of the society. The women of the church have held no second place to the men in their obedient devotion to the final command of Christ, which has for its scope the evangelization of the whole world.

Moreover, the progress of the work of the denomination in foreign lands was recorded by Prof. William Gammell, a member of this church, who published, in addition to a "Life of Roger Williams" and other works, a "History of Baptist Missions," which contained an accurate and comprehensive survey of our mission fields at the date of its publication. Such has been the conspicuous relation of this church to the cause of foreign missions, a relation not unworthy of record even in an outline history. For many years also it has had representatives from its own number on the foreign field. It has seven at the present time.

The early history of the church has been given, in greater or less detail, by all biographers of Roger Williams, and by all historians, sacred and secular, who have treated the founding of the State of Rhode Island, the development of religious liberty and the beginning of the Baptist denomination in this country. Numerous publications have also been issued pertaining to the history of the church, which have been prepared for special occasions, or called forth by special circumstances. Among them are the following:—

“A History of the First Baptist Church of Christ in Providence, R. I., being the oldest Baptist Church in America,” prepared by Rev. John Stanford, Pastor, and published in the Baptist Annual Register, London, 1801 and 1802, pp. 793–833.

An Historical Discourse delivered at the Second Centennial Anniversary of the Church, November 7, 1839, by Dr. William Hague, Pastor.

A Review of a Report presented to the Warren Baptist Association in 1849. This Review was read to the Association in 1850, establishing the claim of the First Church in Providence to be the First Baptist Church in America. Prepared by Dr. James N. Granger, Dr. Alexis Caswell, and Prof. William Gammell. Published in pamphlet.

An account of the Churches in Rhode Island, prepared at the request of the R. I. Baptist State Convention by Dr. Henry Jackson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Newport, and published by vote of the Convention, 1854.

Historical Discourse on the First Baptist Meeting-house at the 90th Anniversary of its Dedication, by Dr. Samuel L. Caldwell, Pastor, 1865.

Materials for a History of the Baptists in Rhode Island by Morgan Edwards. In R. I. Hist. So. Coll. Vol. VI, 1867.

An Address delivered by Prof. John L. Lincoln, superintendent of the Sunday School, at its Fiftieth Anniversary, May 30, 1869.

An Address, delivered by Hon. Samuel G. Arnold before the Charitable Baptist Society, on the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Dedication of the Meeting-house, May 28, 1875.

A History of the church, prepared by Dr. Samuel L. Caldwell and Prof. William Gammell, and read before the Warren Baptist Association, September 12, 1877. Published in Minutes of Association and in pamphlet.

Sermons and Addresses delivered at the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Church, Sunday, April 28, 1889.

An Address, delivered by Dr. Henry M. King, Pastor, at the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the Sunday School, June 3, 1894.

An Historical Address, delivered by the Pastor, Dr. Henry M. King, by request, July 16, 1895, before the Massachusetts delegates en route to the Baltimore Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America. The address with extended historical notes was published by the American Baptist Publication Society under the title “The Mother Church.”

A monograph on “The Baptism of Roger Williams,” being a reply to Dr. W. H. Whitsitt's “Inference,” presenting the evidence in favor of the claim of the church that Roger Williams was its founder and the pioneer Baptist in America. Prepared by the Pastor, Dr. Henry M. King, and published in 1897.

An Historical Discourse delivered by the Pastor, Dr. Henry M. King, on the One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the Dedication of the Meeting-house, May 27, 1900.

A Discourse on "The Life and Labors of Rev. Stephen Gano, M. D.," the fifteenth Pastor of the church, by the Pastor, Dr. Henry M. King, April 20, 1902.

A monograph entitled "Religious Liberty, an Historical Paper," by the Pastor, Dr. Henry M. King, showing the origin of the principle among the Anabaptists of Europe, and the influence of Roger Williams and other Baptists in securing its introduction and triumph in America. Published in 1903.

"The True Roger Williams," an address delivered by request by Dr. Henry M. King, Pastor Emeritus, at a union service held by the church and the Rhode Island Historical Society, July 28, 1907, which day was set apart as "Roger Williams Sunday" in Old Home Week.

The early records of the church have been lost. The records now in the possession of the church commence in 1774, more than a century and a third after its origin. A few years since, by the request of the Standing Committee, the late Mr. Charles F. Wilcox prepared a card-catalogue of the members of the church, making it as complete as possible at that time. He himself traced his pedigree back to Roger Williams, Chad Brown, and Gregory Dexter. He was deeply interested in the history of the church, and had a natural fondness for historical research, and his labors were characterized by great thoroughness and accuracy. He was eminently qualified for the service asked of him. He sought information from all quarters, wherever obtainable, and labored patiently and con amore for a period of several years in the performance of the task assigned him. The church is under immense obligation to him, for his labors have made the publication of this historical catalogue possible.

Referring to his sources of information, Mr. Wilcox said: "The names of members prior to 1774 (the beginning of the official records of the church extant) are taken from historical documents, and from certain lists," which he mentioned. "They consist of the male members of the original organization in 1638, the pastors from the beginning of the church, the male members who in 1732 signed a certain agreement as given in Guild's "Manning and Brown University," p. 154, and those members of the church in 1774 whose connection with it commenced at various dates from 1730 onward."

Among the lists mentioned is one, in Record Book No. 1, of persons received by letter during Dr. Manning's pastorate, and a second of those baptized by him. On the 24th of December, 1778, a meeting was held in Pawtucket, where a part of the members resided, and another meeting on January 2d, 1779, in Providence, to which all members of the church were invited, for the purpose of renewing their covenant obligations to the church. The members had been much scattered, and probably their allegiance to the church had in some instances been weakened, by the war of the Revolution. A list is preserved of those who attended the meetings, of those who were absent but expressed a desire to remain in fellowship with the church, and of those who did not wish to retain their membership. Still another list is preserved of members present at a meeting held August 4, 1791, when it was voted, 62 to 4, not to insist upon the imposition of hands as a prerequisite to church membership.

The existing records of the church seem not, at the first, to have been carefully kept, admissions, dismissions, and deaths sometimes failing to be recorded down to the beginning of the 19th century. Several lists of members were made from time to time on sheets of paper stitched together, and in blank books, separate from the records, in some of which names appear which are not in the records. All of these lists Mr. Wilcox examined carefully, and compared with one another and with the record-books, so as to make the register as complete as possible and to avoid entering the name of the same person twice. These lists bear date of 1775, 1793, 1805, 1812, and 1822. Since that time printed lists of members have been issued by the church bearing the following dates: August 1, 1832; February 6, 1842; April 4, 1844; November 10, 1850; February 10, 1855; December 10, 1861; November 25, 1867; September 25, 1873; May 15, 1880; November 15, 1884; September 1, 1888; July 1, 1890; November 18, 1892; February 28, 1895; April 16, 1900; and September 1, 1905.

Mr. Wilcox sought and obtained additional information from the family connections of members, from the printed vital statistics of the city of Providence, and from other reliable sources. No pains were spared to make the list of names as full and as accurate as he was able. The number of names catalogued is about four thousand. The number of persons connected with the church from the beginning must be in the neighborhood of five thousand.

The card-catalogue has been carefully compared with all lists and church-records for the purpose of verification, and some names of members have been discovered in historical documents which had escaped Mr. Wilcox's search. Other names and the fact of their membership will undoubtedly come to light in the future. Mr. Wilcox concluded his labors January 1, 1904. The catalogue has been brought down to October 1, 1908. The number of members enrolled at this date is 734. Special effort has been made to record family relationships, and to recognize those, so far as they are known, who trace their ancestry to the founders of the church.

A noteworthy feature of the Historical Catalogue is the large number of Italian names which it contains. During the last twelve years the pastor and people have taken a deep interest in work among the Italians in the city of Providence, and about one hundred converts of this nationality have been received into the church on profession of their personal faith in Christ and entrance upon a new life.

An appendix follows the alphabetical list, referring to the correct date of the organization of the church, and justifying the change from 1639 to 1638.

A second appendix is added upon "The Original Members of the Church," which will justify the introduction of a few names not appearing heretofore in any list.

The annual changes in the number of members in the church since 1781 are exhibited in the following tables, drawn from the minutes of the Warren Association:—

APPENDIX A.

The following paper, referring to the correct date of the origin of the Church, was prepared by the pastor, and adopted by the Church at a regular quarterly meeting, held March 21, 1899. In accordance with the vote of the Church, it was presented to the Warren Association at its annual meeting held September 27, 1899, and ordered printed in the Minutes of that year:

“Arnold (History of Rhode Island, Vol. I., page 107), speaking of the First Baptist Church in Providence, calls it, in harmony with the quite unanimous belief of historians, the First Baptist Church in America, and says its formation took place ‘probably in the autumn of 1638.’

Rev. Samuel L. Caldwell, D. D. (History of the First Baptist Church in Providence, page 5), speaking of the date of the origin of this church, says—‘The first sign of organic action is in the baptism of twelve persons, at some time prior to March 16th, 1639.’ In a note he adds, ‘This is the date of the reference to this event in Winthrop’s Journal. Of course it took place before, but how long before is not known. He speaks of Mrs. Scott as ‘going last year to live at Providence,’ which construed strictly and according to the calendar at that time, would be between March 25th, 1637, and March 25th, 1638. The probabilities are in favor of the formation of the Church within the year 1637–8: but as this entry in Winthrop’s Journal is the earliest authentic notice of it, the chronology of the Church has usually been reckoned from that date.’

Dr. Reuben A. Guild says (Brown University and Manning, page 201), after repeating the facts quoted by Dr. Caldwell, ‘The year 1638, therefore, may fairly be assumed as the date of the founding of the Church.’

Prof. George P. Fisher, of Yale University, says (The Colonial Era, page 123): ‘In 1638 Williams was immersed by an Anabaptist named Holyman, and then he himself immersed Holyman and ten others. There was thus constituted the first Baptist Church in America.’

Dr. J. M. Cramp (Baptist History, page 404) says, in his account of Roger Williams—‘But shortly after his settlement at Providence, the whole subject of baptism came under consideration and discussion. How it originated, and in what way the inquiry was carried on, we know not. The result was, however, that in 1638, twelve men declared themselves Baptists in principle. * * * * One of their number, Ezekiel Holliman, was chosen to baptize Mr. Williams, who then baptized the others. A church was immediately formed, of which Mr. Williams became pastor.’

Dr. Henry M. Dexter (As to Roger Williams, page 114) says—‘The first mention of Anabaptism in the history of the New England colonies appears to be in connection with Mr. Williams and his new settlement at Providence: where early in 1638, becoming convinced that he had not been himself baptized, and seeing no other way to obtain the pure ordinance, he submitted to it at the hands of one Ezekiel Hollyman: after which he turned round and himself rebaptized Hollyman and some ten others.'

In A Review of a Report presented to the Warren Baptist Association, etc., prepared by a Committee appointed by this Church, consisting of the pastor, Dr. J. N. Granger, Dr. Alexis Caswell and Prof. William Gammell, after a careful examination of the facts it is said—'we have no doubt, therefore, that this Church was founded before the year 1639.'

In The Mother Church, pages 16-17, a little volume prepared by the present pastor, it is stated—'The baptism of the twelve was the first evidence of any attempt at organized church life. * * * * * For the knowledge of this important event, in which their separatism culminated, and their organic union began, we are indebted to Winthrop's Journal, under date of March 16th, 1639, which contains the earliest authentic record of it. It may have taken place a month or a year before the record. * * * * * The probabilities place it at least a year before this.'

Rev. Morgan Edwards says (Materials for a History of the Baptists in Rhode Island, in Collections of the Rhode Island Historical Society, Vol. 6, page 314): 'For their beginning as a church we must look back towards the year 1638.'

Inasmuch, therefore, as the date of the origin of this Church has been reckoned heretofore, not from the baptism of Roger Williams and his companions, but from the subsequent record of that baptism by Governor Winthrop, under date of March 16th, 1639;

And inasmuch as all historians are agreed in placing the date of the baptism at least several months before the record of it by Winthrop;

And inasmuch as many careful and unprejudiced historians actually speak of the baptism and of the origin of the Church as having occurred during the year 1638,

Resolved, That hereafter the date of the constitution of this Church be regarded as 1638, and that it be so printed in the Minutes of the Association, in all historical sketches of the Church which may be prepared, and in all church papers and documents in which there is occasion to refer to the origin of the Church.

Resolved, that a copy of this action be presented to the Warren Association at its next annual meeting in explanation of this change of date in its Minutes."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the paper and the resolutions presented and adopted by the First Baptist Church, Providence, R. I., at the quarterly business meeting, held Tuesday evening, March 21, 1899.

Attest:

WM. A. GAMWELL,

Church Clerk.

Providence, September 14, 1899.

APPENDIX B.

AN INQUIRY AS TO THE PERSONS WHO WERE THE ORIGINAL MEMBERS OF THE CHURCH.

It is an interesting historical question who were the constituent members of the First church in Providence, who were the persons whom Roger Williams baptized immediately after Ezekiel Holliman had baptized him, and who thus with him founded the first Baptist church in this new world. As is well known, the early records of the church have been lost, but tradition may be as trustworthy as documentary evidence, if it has come down in an unbroken line, fits in to the known circumstances and is confirmed by all the known facts. The fact of the baptism is established beyond question, but the names of all the persons baptized will probably never be known with certainty. It has been generally believed that there were twelve in all (the apostolic number), including Roger Williams.

Hubbard says Roger Williams "was baptized by one Holliman, then Mr. Williams rebaptized him and some ten more." Winthrop also writes: "A sister of Mrs. Hutchinson [probably a sister-in-law], the wife of one Scott, being infected with anabaptistry, and going last year, to live at Providence, Mr. Williams was taken, or rather emboldened by her to make open profession thereof, and accordingly was baptized by one Holyman, a poor man, late of Salem. Then Mr. Williams rebaptized him and some ten others." William Coddington and Richard Scott, contemporaries of Williams, also bear unquestionable testimony to his immersion. See "The Mother Church," pp. 27-38, also "The Baptism of Roger Williams."

It will be noticed that Hubbard and Winthrop do not say "ten more," but "some ten more," leaving the number indefinite, so that it is not absolutely certain that the whole number baptized was exactly twelve. It may have been two or three more.

After Roger Williams had purchased the site of Providence from the Indians, he generously shared his purchase with twelve others, whose names are known, and are as follows: Ezekiel Holliman, Stukely Westcott, William Arnold, Thomas James, Robert Cole, John Greene, John Throckmorton, William Harris, William Carpenter, Thomas Olney, Francis Weston, and Richard Waterman. These twelve and Roger Williams are called "the original proprietors of Providence." It has been quite customary to select twelve of these names, and call them the original members of the church. Stanford, Benedict, Knowles, Arnold and others do this. They omit the name of John Throckmorton or Throgmorton, for what reason I have been unable to ascertain. It is well-nigh certain, as will be seen, that he was one of the number.

Backus quotes from a letter written by Roger Williams seventeen years afterward, in which he clearly implies that William Arnold and William Carpenter were not Baptists, but were in sympathy with the Massachusetts colonies and amenable to them. Dr. Hague in his discourse at the two hundredth anniversary omits the names of Arnold and Carpenter as well as Throckmorton, and speaks of the original members of the church as ten in number. Morgan Edwards gives the names of the thirteen original proprietors, and adds "some of these were Baptists," without specifying how many or which ones. He then makes an illuminating quotation from a letter of Hugh Peters, pastor of the church in Salem, written to the church in Dorchester, which refers to the action of the Salem church in excluding certain members for having been "rebaptized." The names of these members are given in the letter.

Dr. S. L. Caldwell in his discourse at the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the church, refers to Peters' letter, and comments upon it as follows: "The church in Salem excommunicated ten persons, who had come to Providence, and according to the letter of Hugh Peters, the minister there, 'except two are all rebaptized.' Their names were given as 'Roger Williams and his wife, John Throgmorton and his wife, Thomas Olney and his wife, Stukely Westcott and his wife, Mary Holliman and widow Reeves,' four men and six women, the men being four of the thirteen original proprietors of the town. Which were the two not rebaptized it is difficult to learn. To these ten are to be added Ezekiel Holliman certainly, and probably Richard Scott and his wife."

Several explanatory remarks need to be made. These rebaptized persons must have been baptized in Providence, for they had all gone there, and that was the only place in this new world, where "rebaptism," that is, immersion on profession of personal faith in Christ, was administered at that time. Although we do not know who the two not rebaptized were, we know that Roger Williams was not one of them, for we have at least four positive testimonies from his contemporaries that he was rebaptized. It seems probable from Peters' letter that John Throckmorton was rebaptized, and was therefore one of the constituent members of the Providence church, as has been said. The ten excommunicated persons were evidently in full sympathy with each other, and it is probable that the two quickly followed the example of the eight.

It is, moreover, certain that the rebaptized women joined the church at the time of its origin. Dr. Caldwell is undoubtedly correct in including Mrs. Scott among the number, for Winthrop charges her with leading Williams astray, and Mr. Scott also confessed later, when he had become a Quaker and hostile to Roger Williams, his former connection with him, saying that he "walked with him in the Baptists' way three or four months * * * * when he broke from the society."

It is more than probable that the wives of other men, besides those mentioned by Peters, joined their husbands in this new movement, and became members of the church. It is recorded that a Mrs. Verin identified herself with Mr. Williams' followers, and was so opposed by her husband that the town declared that he was infringing upon her sacred rights of conscience, and censured and punished him. The following entry is found upon the town-books: "It was agreed that Joshua Verin, upon the breach of a covenant for restraining of the libertie of conscience, shall be withheld from the libertie of voting till he shall declare the contrarie."

The question suggests itself, does the omission of the names of female members in the constitution of a church indicate a frequent custom in those early days? When a church in Swansea, founded by the Welsh preacher, John Myles, in 1663, which was the first Baptist church in Massachusetts, was organized, seven persons signed the covenant, all of them being men. Yet the wives of some of these men undoubtedly entered into church fellowship with them. When in 1682 in Kittery, Me., a few Baptists under the leadership of Rev. William Screven organized what was the first Baptist church in the district of Maine, the covenant was signed by the ten male members only. It is known that several women had been recently baptized there, including the wife and mother-in-law of Mr. Screven, yet their names do not appear attached to the covenant.

It may be that there were twelve men, in addition to the women, who constituted the Providence church. Now, if we omit the names of Arnold and Carpenter from Benedict's list, names which the letter of Roger Williams excludes, and insert the names of Throckmorton and Scott, for whom there is strong favorable testimony, we still have the requisite number, twelve. There may be some doubt about one or more of these being Baptists, especially John Greene, who had his children baptized not long before he left the mother country (though a sea voyage may have served as a tonic in his case as in many another), and who left Providence for Warwick to join his fortunes with those of Mr. Gorton soon after the church was organized; but these names will probably stand as the original members of the church until new evidence to the contrary is found.

Among the "second comers" to Providence, and to the church, were Chad Brown, William Wickenden, and Gregory Dexter, who after the withdrawal of Roger Williams and also of Thomas Olney, who subsequently formed a new church, assumed the pastoral care of the First church. These were all men of character and influence, and competent leaders of the new movement.
